BIBLICAL PRINCIPLES FOR MORAL DECISION MAKING (Taken from the 39th St Bulletin)

Principle of Doubt - Romans 14:2,22-23

Negative: If I doubt whether something is right, I ought to act so as to remove the doubt or not do that thing.

Positive: I ought to choose the action which eliminates doubt.

Principle of Prayer - 1 Thessalonians 5:17

Negative: If I cannot pray about the thing and ask God's blessings and offer thanks for the opportunity of being involved in it, I should leave the activity alone.

Positive: I should always be able to pray about each and every activity in which I am involved.

Principle of Rightness - 1 Thessalonians 5:21

Negative: I should not act without some scriptural justification.

Positive: I should always be willing to give a scriptural reason for my faith and practice.

Principle of Secrecy - Ephesians 5:8-13

Negative: If I feel compelled to do a thing in secret (so that elders, ministers, parents, friends, Christian friends, do not know) I should not do that thing.

Positive: My life should be a visible influence for good to others.

Principle of Service - John 12:26

Negative: Wherever Jesus would not go, whatever He would not say or do, whoever He would not choose as His friends and associates, I should also avoid if I am to be His servant.

Positive: Whatever Jesus would say or do, I should feel free to say or do.

Principle of Universality - Matthew 7:12

Negative: Whatever I cannot recommend as right to all men, I have no business doing

Positive: My conduct should be inherently right, and should be able to be recommended to any and all.
