Let Him Have His Way By Jesse Dickison

Consider the story of Joseph in the Old Testament. Had the story ended with the selling of Joseph or when he was cast into prison, we would see nothing beautiful in it. However, by looking back from where we are now, we see the wonderful hand of God in it all, making Joseph into a beautiful, useful character. Life is full of such circumstances and experiences.

Paul wrote, “For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed to us-ward...And we know that to them that love God all things work together for good, even to them that are called according to his purpose” (Romans 8:18, 28).

We often wonder, What will the outcome of my life be? It is good to get into our hearts and minds such strong faith in God's hand of love that we will never doubt the outcome. “Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? Even as it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; We were accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Romans 8:35-39).

We only have to be loyal to Him--faithful to His Word--trusting in Him--allowing His hand to make us according to His will (Phil. 2:13). In other words, Let Him Have His Way.
